GERMAN PRISON LABOR

Officials are keeping very mum about it, but the entire question of using German prison labor to rebuild Russia and France has been thrown into a new controversy by a secret opinion rendered by Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, who has taken over U. S. prosecution of war criminals.

Justice Jackson wrote his opinion to U. S. Reparations Chief Ed Pauley, stating that in his opinion compulsory German labor should not be used to rebuild France and Russia unless they have been convicted of war crimes.

"It is not my business what is to be done with reparations," Jackson wrote, "but this would largely destroy the moral position of America in this war. . . . Compulsory labor," he continued, "should be required only for convicted war criminals."

Jackson went on to point out that German labor "drifting out of Russian concentration camps in the future would tell tales of horror" which, even if exaggerated, would "arouse sharp condemnation in the United States." He urged, therefore, that German labor not be used for reparations until they had been convicted of war crimes. He indicated that members of the Gestapo and the SS Elite guard undoubtedly were war criminals as a class, but the every member of the Nazi party might not be classified as a war criminal.

Following Justice Jackson's bombshell, a hurried meeting was called in Secretary Morgenthau's office, attended by Ed Pauley, Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton, the army, navy, FEA, and other interested government agencies. Secretary Morgenthau vigorously protested this new development. It was pointed out by some that the use of German prison labor had been agreed to at Yalta by President Roosevelt himself and, therefore, could not be changed.

"If we have to wait for the conviction of all these war criminals before we can get German labor," suggested Reparations Chief Pauley, "we may have to wait a year. Meanwhile, there may not be enough Germans to repair the damage in France and Russia."

Pauley also made the point that he had been charged by the President with the handling of reparations and, therefore, would have to make the final decision himself after his arrival in Europe. After further discussion, however, Pauley agreed to accept Justice Jackson's opinion in principle, namely, that only convicted war criminals could be used as prisoner labor. This leaves the whole question pretty much up in the air.

However, it has been hinted that Justice Jackson will endeavor to indict groups of Germans as a class. In other words, he may try the Gestapo as a group, not individually, and decide that every member of the Gestapo automatically is a war criminal. This probably will be done with Hitler's SS Elite corps. Whether a blanket indictment will also be lodged against the Nazi party remains to be seen.

TRAINING FILMS DESTROYED. The army doesn't want it known, but it has a new way of handling one type of surplus property. In the case of training and orientation film, it burns old prints. According to a survey made by movie experts, old films last summer were being burned at the rate of 225 tons weekly at Astoria, N. Y.

Meanwhile other government agencies, schools and universities are anxious to buy these outmoded prints from the army. In fact, the U. S. office of transportation had to spend $60,000 of the taxpayers' money to make 10 new reels of its own when the army refused to sell it the army's excellent series of 20 reels for the training of auto mechanics.

Sen. Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, Democrat, has just written Maj. Gen. Harry Ingles, chief of the signal corps, demanding an explanation.

The making of training films and orientation films by the army has been a major operation. Thousands of subjects have been turned out at a tremendous outlay, and production schedules have been more crowded than those of any Hollywood studio.

The films have proved remarkable training aids, with officers claiming that they cut at least in half the length of time needed to teach men such things as first aid, etc.

CAPITOL CHAFF

Aviation enthusiast Rep. Jennings Randolph has introduced a bill authorizing the government to repay employees for the use of their private airplanes on government business — just as is now done with automobiles and motorcycles.

Wyoming's capable Senator Joe O'Mahoney has quietly started a study of the disposal of surplus war plants. He wants to insure maximum use of our national productive capacity after the war and the stimulation of small business.

Rev. D. H. Baldwin Leaves Campbell To Study in East

Concluding four years as minister of the Campbell Methodist church, the Rev. Donald H. Baldwin will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday morning. In the evening the family will be guests of honor at a dinner attended by members and friends of the church. A musical program has been arranged for the occasion.

Having been granted a Sabbatical year Mr. Baldwin will use it for special study and training in the various aspects of pastoral work. It is probable that the major portion of the work will be done at Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

The four-year pastorate has been attended by the addition of one hundred and twenty-seven new members to the church, over one hundred of whom are active members in the church. The active membership of the church has more than doubled in this period.

Other corresponding growths in Sunday School membership, and educational and religious fellowship groups have been made. New groups for children, Cub Pack No. 19, Released-Time class for religious instruction and additional sessions of the Church School have all contributed to the growing church program.

Last year a successful $10,000 Building Fund program, 85 per cent of which is in cash and bonds, was conducted with the fine assistance of laymen.

Announcement was made last Sunday of the appointment of the Rev. Lawrence J. Osborne, Associate Minister and Minister of Music at the First Methodist church of Reno, as Mr. Baldwin's successor. Mr. Osborne has exceptional talents as a musician, gifted with a solo voice of high quality and an able director. He has been directing the Men's Chorus of Reno and his radio choir sings every Sunday over the Reno station which broadcasts the Methodist service. He is a graduate of Union Theological Seminary. He will move to Campbell about June 20 and will conduct his first church service here on Sunday, June 24.

The Baldwin's will leave Campbell June 15. The Rev. Tom K. Farley, just returned from the completion of his theological training in Boston University, will preach and conduct the service at the Methodist church on June 17.

Woman's Club Picnic Monday Is Gala Affair

The Country Woman's club picnic on June 4, at Los Gatos Park, brought the activities of the year to an end. The main event of the afternoon was the installation of officers.

Mrs. G. E. Jeffers, a past president of the organization, conducted the installing ceremony, with Mrs. Carl Field installed at president; Mrs. O. S. Price, first vice president; Mrs. Ira Grim, second vice president; Mrs. E. C. Hancock, treasurer; Mrs. Sue Boyce, recording secretary; Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. E. Jeffers, parliamentarian; and Mrs. T. A. Cutting and Mrs. Anthony Jurras, directors at large.

During the summer recess members will continue with Red Cross work, resuming the regular club activities on September 24.

Committee for the afternoon was Mesdames R. H. Hyde, Bertha Barron, H. E. Hansen, Ricardo Villafuerte, F. H. Cutting, F. A. Coombs and A. C. Currie.

The president thanked all officers, committees and members for their untiring help and cooperation during the past year.

Tin Can Collection

Next week, June 11 to 16 inclusive is the time to take tin cans to the grocery collection depots. R. H. Nodding, chairman of the salvage committee, states that this will be the last collection until October. Cans should be saved during the summer for the fall collection.

Ray Steve Bonds of Campbell was assigned to the navy following his induction at the armed forces induction center at Camp Beale.

A Cappella Choir Entertains at Kiwanis Meeting

D. H. Cramer emceed the meeting of Kiwanis club Tuesday when a group of selections were presented by the a cappella choir of the high school.

The publicity chairman writes:

"One of the finest musical programs of the year was thoroughly enjoyed by all of the members present. Frank Triena has developed a marvelous singing group and it is to be regretted that they cannot be presented more times and also over the air. Possibly this can be arranged at a later date, we hope so. The renditions of the religious numbers were particularly impressive and brought out several outstanding voices. How fortunate these young people are to have such advantages under the public school system and they all seemed to appreciate it and enjoy their co-operative effort. May we have the pleasure of hearing this group often."

Visitors were Len Rausch and Lom Comstock of Santa Cruz; Sid Mills and Rev. Joyce Farr.

Next week Nestor Barrett, chairman of the Santa Clara County Planning Commission, will speak on "Post War Planning," with Ray Mathis chairman.

Ensign Don Martin visited briefly here this week, en route to San Francisco and a stretch of sea duty in the Pacific theater. Ensign Martin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Martin of Page street.

Local Boys Get Congratulations From Doolittle

England—Among the 185,000 men and women of the Eighth Air Force congratulated recently by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who assumed command of the Eighth in January, 1944, were Captain Leroy H. Bothwell of Winchester road, Sgt. Richard R. Arlidge, 1st Lt. Edwin E. Kersgard, and Sgt. Raymond C. Johnson, W. Rincon avenue, all of Campbell.

The Eighth included 185,000 men and could send 21,000 airmen in 2,000 four-engined bombers and 1,000 fighters over Germany at one time.

More than 5,250 Nazi planes were shot down, and 4,250 destroyed on the ground. Six thousand interceptors were shot down. An average of a ton of bombs a minute was dropped by the force for the past 12 months.

PEACE—JAP OR AMERICAN?

"The Japanese are about to toss a disturbing peace proposal at us," predicted Royal Arch Gunnison, war correspondent returning from the Pacific war front recently. "Let's neither be surprised at the move nor taken in."

There are other highly placed observers who believe the present Japanese objective is primarily to soften us to a point of willingness to settle for peace on any basis.

The savage, suicidal fighting on Okinawa and Luzon might be considered by the Japs to contribute to that psychological goal—to so discourage Americans at home that a peace far short of unconditional surrender would look enticing. The sudden change in Tokyo radio reports, admitting the crippling havoc of our super-fortress raids on Jap cities, fits perfectly into such a pattern, designed to lure us into an easy, unaware peace.

On that score Gunnison declares he considers the United States is sound asleep to the dangerous situation in the Far East that can grow out of this war. "If there is another war after this one, it will start in Asia," he maintains, "and Jap propaganda has left one thing in the mind of every Asiatic—Asia for the Asiatics!"

Other official observers agree that Japan will come again as soon as she is able—who point to the Shinto teaching of every Jap child that Japan must subjugate the 10,000 Nations and the four seas.

We must be "rough, tough and realistic" cautions the war reporter. "It may not be pleasant to have to go into Japan with a club—for nobody can be friendlier than a Jap, right up to the time he stabs you . . . but the only way to make them understand what they can't do again is to show force."

If the sure alternative is another war as soon as Japan is militarily ready for it, and if there is a possibility of simultaneously ending both this one and the next before it starts, we must agree with Gunnison: When the dearly won peace is ours, it must be a strongly guarded, preventative peace, in our time and on our terms—not Japan's.

★ ★ ★ ★ HOODLUM "PATRIOTS"

The terrorist acts which, although scattered, continue to be committed against American citizens of Japanese ancestry are deplorable.

It is regrettable that law enforcement officials in most instances seem "unable" to find the culprits. Worse still, in the few cases where the guilty ones have been brought into court, they have invariably either been acquitted or given the lightest sentence possible.

The individual who sneaks through the dark to fire shots into another man's home, or to set fire to his house or barn may, in his twisted brain, think he is a "patriot" because his act is directed against one born of Japanese blood. The fact that many of the victims have sons and brothers serving in the armed forces makes no difference to the assailants.

A few stiff sentences—including prison terms as well as fines—would do much to cure these hoodlums of their perverted "patriotism". But judges and juries for some strange reason have not seen fit to accord the same punishment to terrorists who attack Japanese-Americans and their property as they would if the attacks were made on others.

This mockery of justice reached a ludicrous stage when a California judge gave a defendant, who pleaded guilty to firing into a home, a suspended sentence. The defendant said he was "sorry". The court considered the fact that the terrorist had only used a shotgun instead of a powerful deer rifle, and therefore "did not intend to injure anyone."

Is this liberty and justice for ALL?

HOT SPOT

If Herbert Hoover should be offered and should accept the task of feeding a starving Europe again, the past persistent will find himself, unfortunately, in one of the most difficult and probably thankless positions to grow out of the war.

Peculiarly enough, many of the European millions we will be called on to save will react much as the would-be suicide, unhappy because his rescuer didn't save his shoes and wallet, too. Even the defeated Germans, their country already gripped in a food crisis, expect to be fed—and promptly—for they know this country, unlike their own, recognizes all humanitarian obligations.

Here at home the Wisconsin State Industrial Council of CIO was the first to warn President Truman that he'd better avoid Herbert Hoover's advice in the matter if he wants CIO support. Their stock criticisms of the work done under Hoover's direction, to feed Europe's starving millions after the last war, have been hauled out and dusted off. Their deprecation of Mr. Hoover's authority on war-created food problems is well under way, despite world-wide recognition to the contrary.

The job of feeding Europe is one in which neither politics nor factionalism should play a part, and which surely should be administered by somebody who knows something about it through first-hand experience. Herbert Hoover, past-president of the United States, would be a reasonable, obvious selection, if he would undertake such a huge task. But for a job inviting the pressure, dissatisfaction and censure of critics both at home and abroad, no spot could be hotter or more thoroughly difficult for any man.

JAP BALLOONS

The fact that six persons were killed near Lakeview, Oregon, when their curiosity was aroused by a "white object" that proved to be a grounded Japanese bomb-carrying balloon, should serve as a warning to all citizens to be careful. Although many of these balloons have landed in America, this is the only known instance of fatalities resulting from them.

COMMON SENSE AT LAST

Writing in Harper's Magazine, C. Hartley Grattan says factories cannot employ all the millions of persons in the armed forces and war production, but that this need not cause despair, for the first essential of a healthy postwar economy is that workers be properly distributed—a larger proportion in service industries than in factories.

Service industries must be given every opportunity. They include the wholesale and retail trade, transportation, communications, utilities, farming, bankers, brokers, insurance people, office workers, hotel keepers, domestic servants, teachers, publishers, newspapers, advertising, radio, amusements, all professional people, etc.

Mr. Grattan is correct. You can't build a peacetime economy on a wartime foundation.

VACATIONS—DON'T TRAVEL

The Office of Defense Transportation is urging all of us, Don't travel. That may seem like a hard request to observe when we are so anxious for a change of scenery, but there are many nearby places where we can find relaxation and enjoyment. A good vacation does not depend on visiting some distant spot.

BOY SCOUT HIKE-O-REE JUNE 9-10

The annual Boy Scout Hike-O-REE in the Campbell and Los Gatos-Saratoga districts will be held at Wildwood Park at Saratoga Saturday and Sunday, with Saratoga Troop No. 49 the host.

James W. Dent is district chairman for Campbell and Sewell Brown of the other district. William C. Henley is advancement chairman.

Brown has appointed Doug Helm as chairman; Charles Sartorette, vice chairman; Lyn Farwell, camp director; George Jeffers, Robert Dench, E. E. Jeffery, and Clarence Nelson, assistant camp directors; Paul Straub, head judge.

There are some 30 patrols in the districts, 12 of them from Campbell troops, which are Cambrian Troop 34, Herb Brash, Scoutmaster; Campbell 31, Ted Baker, Scoutmaster; Campbell 28, Lloyd Hitchman, Scoutmaster; Moreland 36, Bob Herschback, Scoutmaster; Union 47, Art Downing, Scoutmaster.

The patrols will start setting up their camps at 1:00 o'clock p. m. on Saturday, and the Hike-O-REE will be concluded at 2:30 p. m. on Sunday. The public is invited to visit the camp at all times, and especially to the evening campfire program starting at 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

The patrols will be graded on their camp qualifications which include neatness, sani-

VICTORY IS NEVER CHEAP
in Lives or Money!

They're giving their all...
back them up with YOUR dollars!

AS THE battle lines approach the heart of the enemy's homeland, the fighting grows fiercer... and more costly in men, materiel, and money. That's one reason why every red-blooded American must back this mighty 7th War Loan with every dollar he can lay hands on. Another reason is that this is really two drives in one. In the same period last year, you were asked to invest in two war loans, as against one this time.

No need to tell you that War Bonds are the safest and best investment in the world. So pour out your might, Americans, in the MIGHTY 7th War Loan. Let's show our valiant Fighting Men that we're backing them to the limit of our means... 100%.

Aspirants to West Point, Annapolis May Take Exams

Congressman Jack Anderson of the Eighth Congressional district today announced that July 28, 1945, has been selected as the date for his annual competitive examination for appointments to West Point and Annapolis in 1946. The examinations are conducted by the United States Civil Service commission and Congressman Anderson has been advised by the commission that all applications must be received prior to June 20, 1945.

Anderson stated that all of his appointments are made strictly on a merit basis and that any young man who is a bona fide legal resident of the Eighth Congressional district, and who is otherwise qualified, is welcome to compete. He awards his principal appointment to the candidate making the highest grade in the examination, the first alternate appointment to the candidate making the second highest grade, etc.

Particular attention is invited to the fact that boys who are already in the service are not only eligible, but that every effort is made by their commanding officers to assist them in taking the examination. In this regard Congressman Anderson said: "I am extremely proud to state that two of the three boys who received my principal appointments last year were wearing the uniforms of their country. One of them had taken the competitive examination for the third time and the fact that he obtained the highest grade was a fine tribute to his personal initiative and tenacity of purpose."

Anderson asked that every young man who desired to compete write directly to him at his office, 3366 House Office Bldg., Washington, D.C., and again emphasized that all applications must be in his office by June 20 of this year.

Bond Drive Continues, 33% Yet to be Collected

With a little over $70,000.00 already subscribed in E bonds against our quota of $103,100.00, we are going to need the active support of all interested parties if our goal is to be reached. While the high school pupils have done a fine job it has not been possible for them to see everyone, so if you have been missed please contact Mr. Dent at the high school, or Mr. Farley. Anyone purchasing a bond on or before June 20 will receive a ticket to the special bond show at the Campbell theatre on June 20.

Remember, you have not done your part unless you have bought that EXTRA bond.

Miss Barbara Jensen of Campbell was one of the 15 San Jose State College freshman women chosen to become members of the Spartan Spears, sophomore honorary society, for the coming college year.

Selections for the Spears are based on exceptional ability and interest in college activities, during their freshman year.

In a letter to his parents Ray Mathis, Jr. wrote that he had met his Campbell high school pal Johnnie Koerner on Guam, and he also located a cousin on a boat after three hours of search among the large force aboard.

Orchard City Grange

Orchard City Grange held on Tuesday evening, May 22, a very unusual and interesting meeting, with Grand Master J. C. Gordon presiding. A pot-luck supper was followed by a fine program.

A beautiful silk American flag, a gift from the Home Economics group, was dedicated by the Campbell Post of the American Legion. Those presenting the ritual were Commander Rex Fuller, Vice Commander Wilbur Mitchell, Bugler Ed Lee and Color Bearers Virgil Smith, Frank Weeks, Jack Robillard, Guy Smith and Louis Fontaine.

The Rev. Orville Potter of Burbank, gave an interesting talk and introduced Capt. Gardner, chaplain U. S. Army, who honored the service men represented on the service flag and added two new stars, honoring Louis Hughes of the Merchant Marine and Ensign Vernon Daugherty. The captain also related many of his experiences in service.

Little Peter Cratty and Mrs. M. F. Hughes gave appropriate readings for Mother's Day. Interesting reports were heard from standing committees.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, June 12, in charge of the garden committee and featuring Mrs. Jessie McChesney and Mrs. Harry Barnes. The public is cordially invited to the lecture hour beginning at 8:45.

Home-School Club Board Met Friday

Cambrian Home and School club's new board members enjoyed a get-together Friday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Arno Doerr. Projects were discussed and plans made for the coming club year.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the business session.

Members in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Delos Bagley, Mesdames Ida Levenberg, Ward Edsinger, Norman Pratt, Irene Farnham, Roberta Daniel, Jessie Shelley, Clara Price, Gracie Coombs, Rudolph Nelson, Marie Roles, and the Misses Lelia Merritt and Barbara Roat.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Treat Held Saturday

The Rev. Herbert L. Johnson, pastor of the Church of God Assemblies of Campbell, conducted funeral services Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Olive Viola Treat, one of its members.

Mrs. Treat, a native of California, was 72 years of age and had spent 60 of them in Campbell and its environs. For a number of years she was an active worker in the Sunday school of the Congregational church, transferring to the other when it was organized.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Fred J. Ogan of San Jose; Ida and Mabel Drewry of Oakland; and a nephew, Alton D. Ogan of the U. S. Army.

Services were held from the Roger Darling Garden Chapel, with interment in Oak Hill Memorial Park.

Serving as pallbearers were E. W. Dombrian, C. E. Goodrich, Henry Phillips, Wm. A. Truax, W. J. Smith and L. R. Austin.

For the third consecutive year, San Francisco is again the Bright Spot of the Nation, with the lowest combined bills for gas, electric and telephone service for average family use. (Comparably low rates apply also to other communities served by this company.)

The table above, taken from the annual report of the California Railroad Commission for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1944 shows:

1. That San Francisco has lowest utility rates among the 25 largest U. S. Cities. Average monthly bills here are $1.83 for gas, $2.37 for electricity and $3.00 for telephone—a total of $7.20. Los Angeles, with a tax-exempt municipal electric system is third with a total bill of $7.76.

2. That the monthly average bill for gas and electricity in San Francisco is $4.20. In Los Angeles the charge is $4.51. The one major city in the U. S. with a lower bill is Cleveland with $4.16—a monthly difference of only 4 cents.

War-time conditions have brought many increases in the cost of living as well as lowering the quality of service. Your gas and electric costs have gone down and quality of service has been maintained.
